

Issue #3

Delta Fire, Inc.

The Northwest's fire protection contractor of choice for over 30 years.

Every aspect - from budgeting to construction to ongoing service - is handled in-house, allowing us to provide the most timely and highest quality fire protection service in the industry.

She's passionate about women in the fire sprinkler trade.

Ana Rigsby, Journeyworker Sprinkler Fitter

According to Ana's supervisor, "Ever since Ana has joined Delta Fire, she has been a great asset to the company. She has fit right in with her easy-going personality while maintaining a desire to get things done and getting them done correctly."

Ana recently joined Delta Fire as a fire sprinkler fitter journeyworker. In addition to her regular work duties, Ana has accepted a position as Union

Proctor for the Local 669 to mentor union apprentices.

Ana is passionate about women in the fire sprinkler trade. She has participated in the Oregon Tradeswomen Career Fair in previous years to spread the word. She is excited about the next Career Fair and is already planning what "hands-on" tasks will be available to attendees.

Her attitude towards learning the high-tech industry work has been great. She has demonstrated great knowledge of her job and is able to pass that along to the apprentices on site with ease. Her decision to step into the proctor role will serve Delta Fire and the union well.

Meet Our Experienced Field Professionals... On Site at Westrock

Galen Taylor

Galen Taylor has worked at Delta Fire for 29 years. He's worked over 10 years on Westrock projects. What he likes most about working at Westrock is the chance to mentor the younger Delta Fire employees.

He says keeping fire sprinkler systems going all the time, even if something breaks or is leaking, can be a challenge. When asked how he overcomes this challenge, he responded, "just take care of it... whatever it takes."

Mark Sedey

Mark Sedey was first hired by Delta Fire in 1998. He has been working at the Westrock facility for three years.

According to Mark, one of the biggest challenges at Westrock right now is maintaining proper social distancing.

Justin Dauchy

Justin Dauchy began with Delta in 2006. He's worked on Westrock projects on and off for about 14 years.

When asked what challenges he faces at Westrock, he mentioned high temperatures and heights while working from cranes. He overcomes those challenges by simply working through it safely.

Michael Berlingen

Michael has worked for Delta Fire for about 11 months. He has spent four of those months on Westrock projects. He says the "fast paced work, surrounded by experienced individuals" is what he likes about working on these projects.

One of the greatest challenges he faces at Westrock is the heat, which he combats with hydration.

July 2020

CORPORATE DONOR OF THE MONTH

Oregon Food Bank is delighted to honor Delta Fire as our Corporate Donor of the Month.

COVID-19 ... We're open for business \(Link to CDC Guidelines\)

At Delta Fire, we're facing challenges like most businesses. Our employees' health, welfare, and ability to perform their roles is our number one concern. No one in our organization has been diagnosed with the virus and we are taking precautions to provide the safest workplace possible.

So far, we can continue to deliver services to our customers.

I want to thank you for your support and understanding as we make every effort to support our customers and continue to deliver our services.
